For more than ten authors (not shown here), list the first seven in the reference list, followed by et al.

Website content

It is often sufficient simply to describe web pages and other website content in the text ("As of May 1, 2017, Yale's home page listed . . ."). If a more formal citation is needed, it may be styled like the examples below. For a source that does not list a date of publication or revision, use n.d. (for "no date") in place of the year and include an access date.

In place of a title, quote up to the first 160 characters of the post. Comments are cited in reference to the original post.
